Paul, there just aren't words enough in the world to express how I feel toward you from the beginning I always had a special feeling in my heart about you and I don't think it's to laugh when I look at us date ever since, every time I have did. But let's thank God so much before we you can't begin to tell you how happy you've made me and everytime I try to tell you how I feel, Right! Everything we do right words. But you know how I love you like a little bit closer to each other.
I'm so glad I found why I love you (Thank god for friends huh!) Sometimes I find myself asking your Paul, because you've got what it takes to that I do because your perfect example of that all American guy, ever put in this world. I'll never ever forget get far in your my great times we've had together even if I have your great in every sense of the word. I'll never miss Florida all the wonderful things I've just told you as long as I live with just setting and I'll never here from you. I was so excited never called where I'll never to here all over. Then when you came how happy I was to bubbling felt as though the world was that I was and our since everything has been so our, well, I felt as though the world was mine, and I felt as though the world was wonderful. I'll cherish you always, as I do now with the bottom of my heart; and there is a key to that place and no-one can get in except you and I.
I'll never forget all the great times we've had together down

Over these 18 years I think we've been real good friends, but better cousins. Maybe you'll try surfing some time. Ya know, the

that I've met at the high schools.
You are a great athlete and a tremendous competitor. It was great pleasure playing on the line with you.
Never forget all the great times with Ed and all our wrestling bouts.
Our friendship is something that I will always cherish and I'm really looking forward to V.N.H.
Hope we're roommates. What a bunch. Never forget the beach, the pool, and all of Sully's chores.
I want to wish you the best of luck at V.N.H. and I hope we'll be playing football together in a couple of years. Congratulations on a great sports year. Soke love

Administration

Sometime tackling, sometimes being tackled—but midst the interaction dialogue among administrators, faculty and students moved forward.

William F. Young (Superintendent)

Carmen P. Rinaldi, (Assistant Superintendent)

We are living in a time of dissent, militancy and confrontation. Society is searching for a new and relevant ideology. We as adults are guilty of preaching values which you, our children, blatantly call phony. Our generation seeks to "hold on," and you, our young, rebel and prod impatiently. Our deliberations and moderation may offend you, but remember that, as the change agents of today, you will become tomorrow's keepers of traditions. In your turn, you will be prodded by the new wave of young people.

We urge you to spend freely and fully of yourselves. Accept responsibility! Elevate the human condition! Yours is the time to dream and the time to fulfill!

William F. Young
Carmen P. Rinaldi

Have faith in your parents for they love you and wish you well.

Have faith in God for there will be times when man, in all his collective wisdom, cannot provide for you an answer.

Have faith in yourself for that is where you, and only you, live.

Have faith that hard work, honest motives, clean living and purpose will enhance your future happiness.

Have faith in the ultimate brotherhood of man for, being gregarious in nature, we must learn to live in harmony.

Have faith in these faiths and many doubts will be dispelled and much unhappiness avoided.

Just as important as the policy-making is the accessibility of all members of the administration to the student. These are the men who make such contact possible. For any student in need of administrative help or advice their doors are always open . . . or closed, as the situation demands.

"It is the effort of all that makes the vision of one important."

Director Theodore M. Molongoski and his staff truly face "mission impossible." Without asking how they do it or whether we deserve it, we expect them to find us a well-paying job that requires no experience or skill or a prestigious college that won't look at our marks or ask any questions. Here is the one group that stands sensitive and responsive to our every needs—educational, vocational and personal.

PAUL,

It just seems like yesterday that we were carrying sand down Wilson Park. Since then we have spent times, playing, football, & basketball. I probably won't ever forget you & the time I'll never forget for writing you know in our little you to keep a record of our lives. I hope you do. May we be friends forever.
 Good luck,
 Paul

ACTIVITIES

Music-Theatre

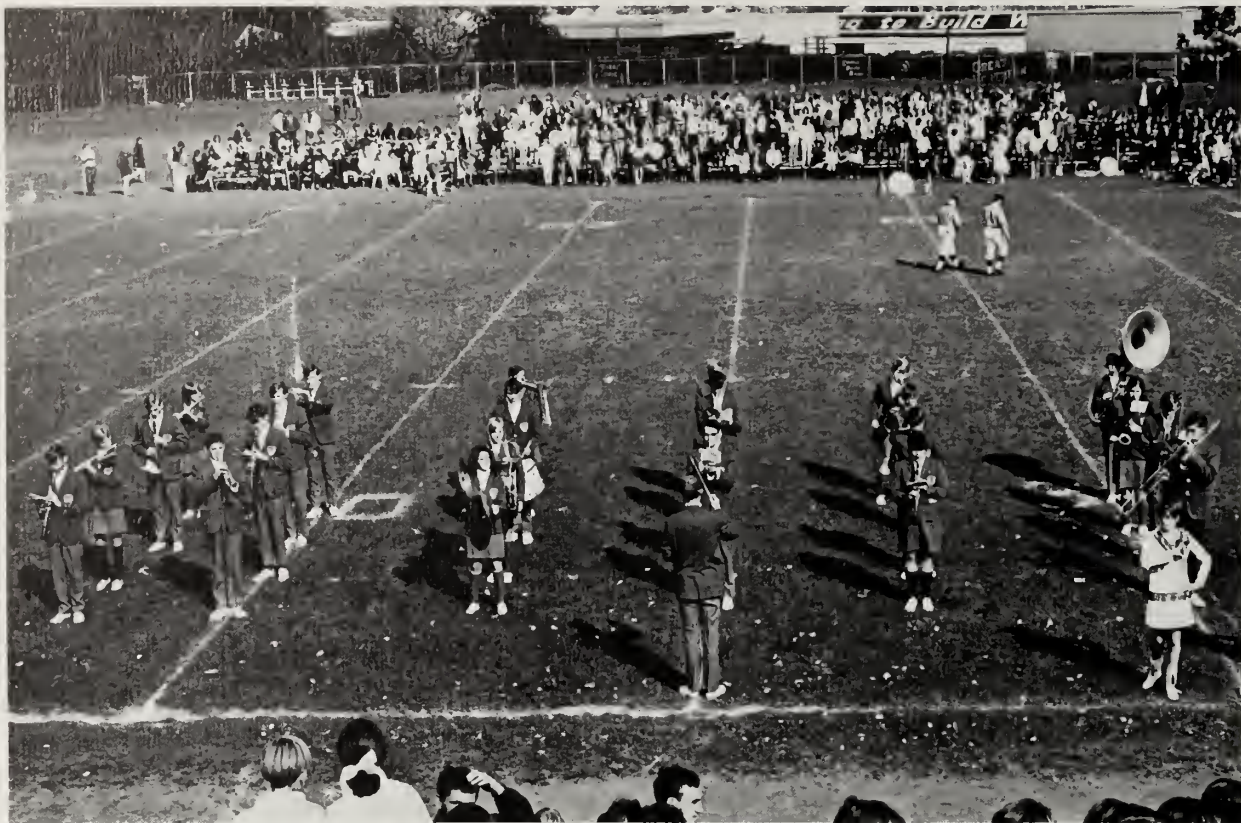

Led by one of B.H.S.'s new music teachers, Brian Aschinger, Braintree's Music-Theatre Club attempted several innovations in the music program. For the first time, in more years than anyone could remember, the Christmas assembly featured a dramatic presentation, "Amal and the Midnight Visitors," which brought together, by the way, talent from the high school, junior highs, and Boston University. The Glee Club, Chorus and Choir sang the accompaniment.

In addition to this, the club worked out many other productions, notably the February performance of the Fantastiks.

Band

Orchestra

Though overcrowded conditions this year forced programing unfavorable to such clubs, all can here attest to the admirable achievements of director George Raymond and the band members who spent many days after school and those Saturdays during the football season to provide BHS with a half-time show.

Our orchestra continued to provide the music for Music-Theatre productions and special assemblies.

Cheerleaders

Paul,
To a really great cousin who I love very dearly because didn't know you helped me make so many friends (12-15). I really appreciated it!
Go best of luck always.
Love
Jane

They continue to keep our spirits up (and to get into the games free).

Drill Team

Braintree's answer to the Dallas Rangerettes.

Dramatics

Arsenic and Old Lace was the big one this year. And typically, advisor-director-costume designer-stage designer-lighting director-jack of all trades Bob Corey gave Braintree another success. Many of our actresses and actors have Bob for English and we hear that this year the classes performed "in-the-rough" everything from Sophocles' Antigone to Ionesco's The Chairs.

This year's group is undoubtedly an active one, adding to its repertoire two spring productions: Edward Albee's Zoo Story and The American Dream.

The Future Secretaries and the Office Staff save teachers and secretaries alike from insanity. Operating the office switchboard, typing materials for teachers, running important (and irrelevant) messages for everyone, staying after school to catch up with Miss Evans' assignments—all these, without one thought of Helen Gurley Brown, give them a vital role at B.H.S.

Serious or smiling our secretaries listen to Miss Evans' directions.

Ruth and Gail do some fast adding for the business department.

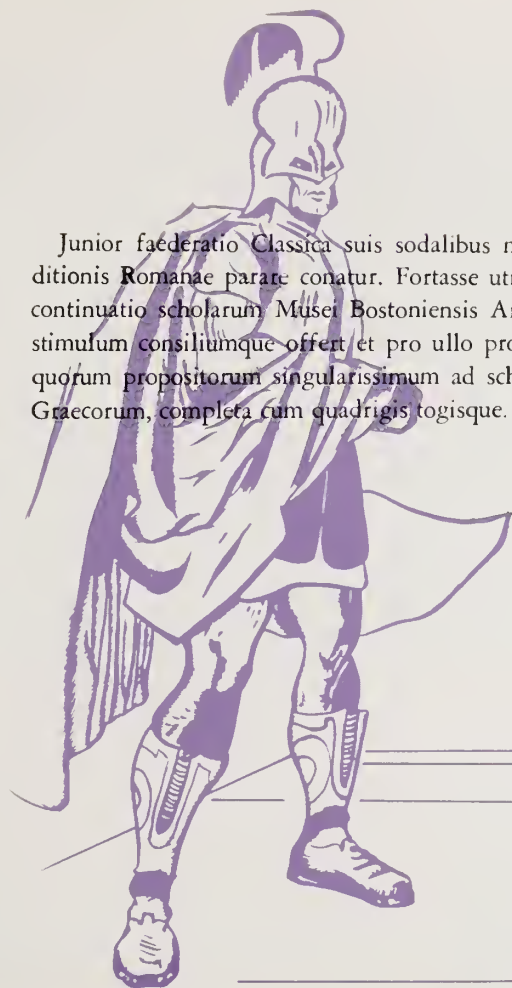

The Future Nurses prepare for the onslaught—doctors as well as patients! . . . Below Mrs. Burling saves a drowning senior—one of many practical demonstrations performed for club members only.

Le Cercle Français et La Société Honoraire Nationale de Français servent à offrir des programmes de conversations, de petites pièces, et des parties pour ceux qui ont choisi cette langue internationale. Ne se contentant pas simplement de participer à ces discussions sur la culture française ou de prendre part à de petites scénettes en français, les plus braves parmi les membres luttent contre la circulation ennuyeuse de Boston et de Cambridge pour assister à des pièces présentées en français par les universités de ces villes voisines. Au mois de mai de cette année, offerte par l'Université de Harvard, la présentation de Guernica et Le Tricycle de Fernando Arrabal a attiré l'intérêt de plusieurs.

Junior faederatio Classica suis sodalibus maiorem cognitionem donorum culturae traditionis Romanae parare conatur. Fortasse utilissimus aspectus huius societatis est optima continuatio scholarum Musei Bostoniensis Artium Leberalium. Hera Gutterson sodalibus stimulum consiliumque offert et pro ullo proposito dato paulo plus temporis agere vult, quorum propositorum singularissimum ad scholam est accomodatio Romana Olympiorum Graecorum, completa cum quadrigis togisque.

This year, under the leadership of advisor James Morgan and President Nelson Desjardins, the Debate Club experimented with some new techniques and posted the best won-lost record in recent history.

The Library Staff, under the guidance of Mrs. Stovold, concentrated on opening the library "after" hours and on getting books back on the shelves and into student hands as quickly as possible. It is a healthy sign to see both teachers and students using the library almost every hour of the school day.

These DECA officers are just a few of Braintree's finest trainees in retailing and sales-management. Under the guidance and supervision of Mrs. Constance Doty, that teacher with the striking hats, these young people have managed to collect many of the competitive retailing awards in this area.

1969's Student Council continued the fight against student apathy toward self-government by opening all its meetings to those who wished to attend, though participation was, of course, limited to the members. Projects for CARE and VISTA as well as the Christmas "Toys for Tots" drive were just a few of the community programs this group organized—and, of course, there were the socials, the highlight of which was the Winter Carnival (coming one week before the snow storm).

Sadie Hawkins Dance

"Hey, isn't that you on page 108 right behind Mike." "Yeth, it isth."

Our National Honor Society members dedicate themselves to something beyond maintaining their own marks. Throughout the school year many of these students offer free tutoring services to their classmates while many more are leading participants in other school functions and community organizations.

Many other clubs were part of the B.H.S. scene: Rifle, Math and Chess Clubs, though small in membership, pointed to the diversity of our interests. And, of course, there were the "not-here—here-again" publications of Truth (our school newspaper) and the Cutshamokin (our literary publication). Dance Club, started under the guidance of Miss Smith earlier this year, is catching on and may soon be one of the most popular as well as most practical for those leisure nights out in our post-grad days. All are expressed here in this special art impression of the year's activities.

One outstanding feature of this season was the number of injuries incurred. Though our team never did play at full strength, they did manage to post a winning record—5 wins, 4 losses.

Lest we forget one record let it be noted: this team had four co-captains—John O'Hare, Joe Belmosto, Mark Wallace, Bill Bennett. Shall we try for five boys?

faces of dedication

Our Cross Country team ran its unbroken winning streak to 40 games before losing to a determined Natick team. However, a 7-2 season and a second place triumph for Dave Elliott in the New England Tourney still gives Braintree one of the best teams in the Bay State League.

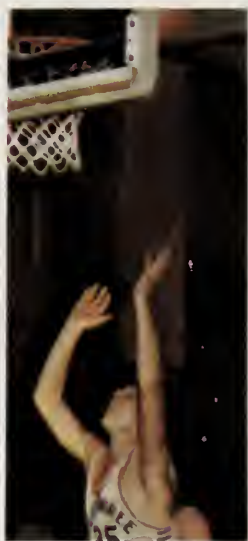

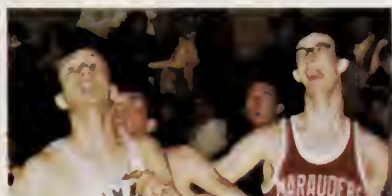

Mr. Herget, did it again—this year's team, captained by Dave Elliott and John Haviland, took first place in the Bay State League with a record of 16-2. This phenomenal record rocketed us to the Tech Tourney for the 13th year of Fred Herget's coaching—and we won!

4-14—well, it's better than last year. Remember, even the Bruins had losing seasons.

A 9-1 record, two state champions (Dick Pacelli and Mark Wallace) and a Southern Massachusetts Regional champion (Jim Concannon) gave B.H.S. a full season of cheers.

Up—

and over for Paul O'Sullivan.

Hey, you on de end, get dose feet together.

Captains Paul O'Sullivan and Artie Adams provided this year's relatively inexperienced gymnastics team with the leadership that they needed. Posting a 5-4 winning record, they look forward to an even better season next year.

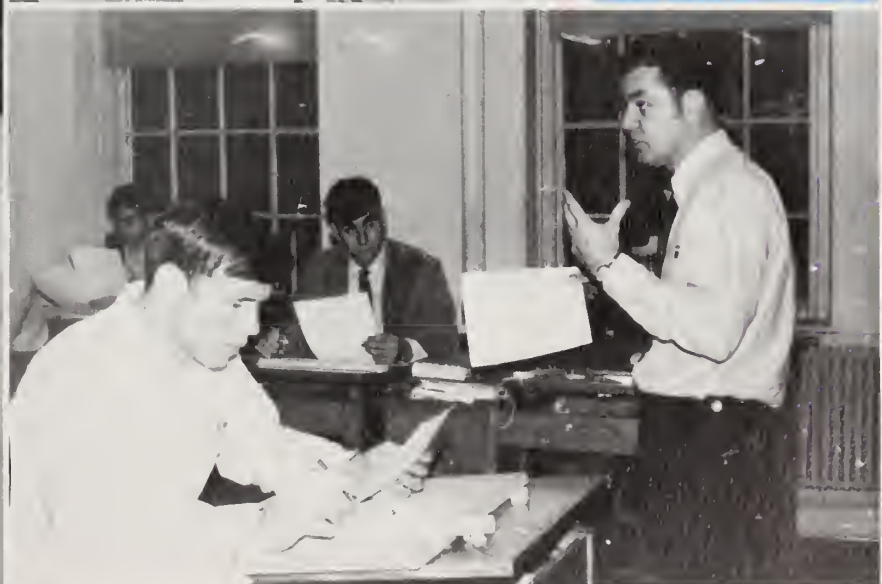

This year's inexperienced team, led by Dolores Powers (the only senior on the squad), ended at par, with promise for the years ahead.

With Jean Mara leading the guards and Joanna Maloof leading the forwards, this year's team ended with a 5-4 winning season.

Field Hockey, one of the roughest of girls sports, continues to give our girls a hard time. The 3 wins, 4 losses and 1 tie does not give an accurate picture of the determination shown by this year's squad.

Miss Ann Keenan presents Mr. Yoneya with a gift from the English department.

Mr. Yoneya demonstrates his interpretation of American political know-how.

If there is one idea the yearbook staff has tried to illustrate in the Wampatuck, it is the spirit of involvement, people meeting people. And in this respect Braintree had the unique opportunity of having Mr. Kozo Yoneya, a high school English teacher from northern Japan, visit and observe our schools for some eight weeks, cultivating a mutual respect for and understanding of East and West.

We thank you, Kozo Yoneya.

Editor Bob Cosgrove sternly warns Joanna Maloof (smiling) and Marilyn Brown against dirty jokes on the copy page. "No smudge marks" were his remarks, if we caught them accurately.

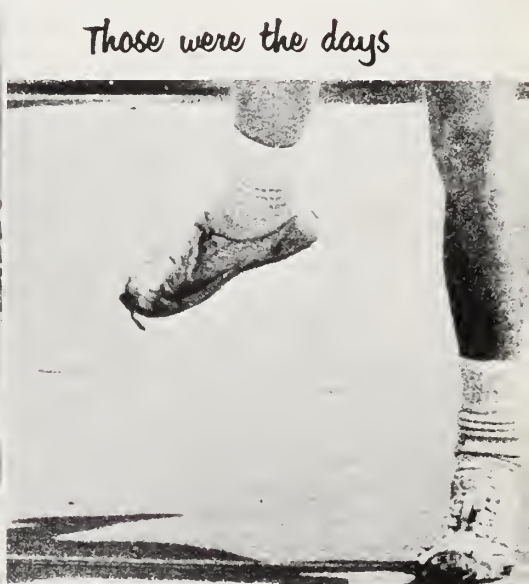

Producing a yearbook can be a rewarding, if sometimes grueling, task. Captured on these pages are some of the creative geniuses who produced this monumental work of art. Here WE are in all our glory—the Narcissistic Nine ... plus one.

Braintree Coaches Will Recall 1969

By Harvey Robbins
Patriot Ledger Staff Writer

BOSTON — A seemingly easy layup that rolled around the rim and fell out, a sneakaway hoop by Tom Stundis and the final buzzer that seemed an eternity away — in years to come Fred Herget and John Hopkins will probably remember those isolated highlights that repaid 24 years of coaching with a walk in the sun.

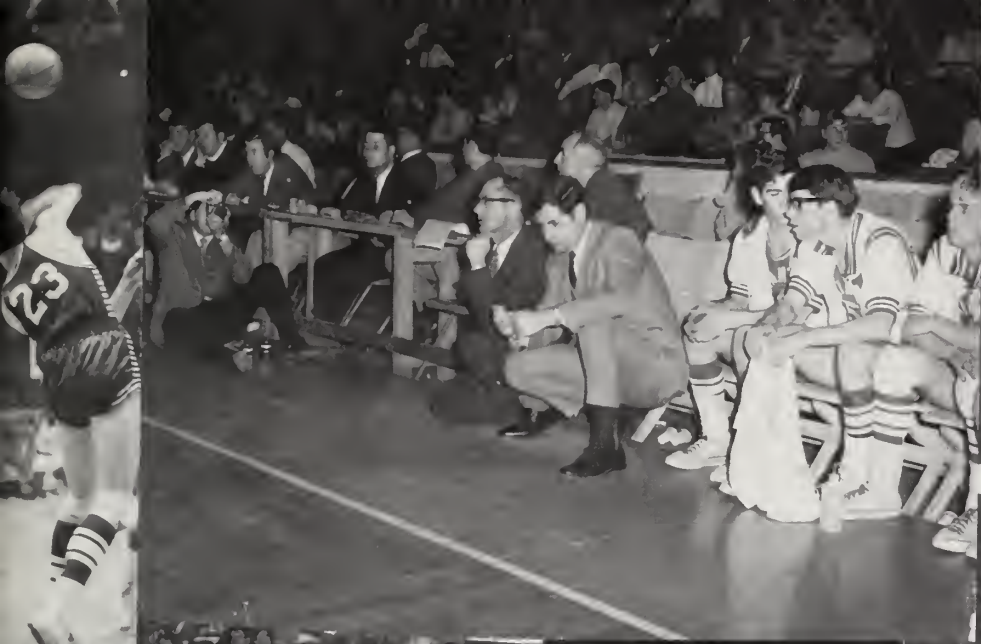

The moment of glory came Saturday night at Boston Garden as Braintree High School rallied with an about-face second half effort to nip highly-touted Hyde Park, 63-59, for the Class B championship of the Eastern Mass. (Tech) Tournament.

Herget has been at Braintree's basketball helm for 16 years and assistant Hopkins at his side for the past eight. It seemed they would never attain the goal that had eluded them since they joined forces.

It was bedlam in the Braintree dressing room. Hopkins, between handshakes, tried and failed to keep his thoughts.

A different team in the second half let the boards and hustle. Hyde Park let up on the defense. Lee (Gerry) got in for a few points of the game.

An Intensive Preparation

"Our Bag of Mixed Nuts," 1969's Senior Show, proved a hit with the audience. Responsible for the 'mission impossible' spoof were advisor Walter Engstrom and virtually the entire senior class.

Civil Defense authorities expressed amazement over the widely acclaimed response of Braintree's youth when spring flood waters posed possible danger to the surrounding community. Acting quickly, BHS students filled hundreds of sandbags which officials distributed throughout the Weymouth-Braintree area.

Students sold Rotary Show tickets ... seniors washed cars ... but at best all memorial fund efforts expressed only a token of the esteem they held for the late Billy Cannon.

A fine all-round student and athlete, Billy served as an inspiration not only to the class of '68 but to the entire student body, which will long remember his struggles to forge an effective student government.

"Sister Judy"

This year's Exchange Concert brought to us the Springfield Glee Club and the Harwich Band. We believe this annual affair should continue and we hope that Braintree's new high school will provide opportunities for greater musical participation for its students than the current facilities encourage. Music is the sound of the young and the hopeful.

The only game where "love" is a real loser

The class of '69 may well be best remembered for having been the first one at BHS to produce a motion picture. The quality of the 30 minute film took us by surprise, especially the totally realistic performance of Jim Concannon who was well supported by Christine Houmiller, Holly Milch, Philip Munroe, Alan Govoni, and Mrs. Constance Doty. Although "Runaway" came late in the year, this "sleeper" was so well received that we voted the balance of our treasury for the purchase of movie equipment for our school.

Braintree's spring fashion

Edward Albee's Zoo Story and The American Dream provided us with a taste of the absurd. Well done. Braintree needs more experimental theatre.

Our Senior Prom ... something special ... there's Mom and Dad ... the flowers ... the pictures ... and we dance the way people once danced ... but we also do our own "thing" ... everyone is someone else ... the vegetables were cold but we didn't care ... besides, there was Linda and Jimmie.

And here they are: Linda Santackus and Jimmie Melligan the Wampatuck's choice for "most memorable prom couple."

We were afraid the yearbooks just wouldn't arrive in time . . . but somehow they got here and made our senior breakfast something more than coffee and do-nuts.

Somehow Mr. Hjelm shows us how it's done ... somehow (and for some reason) we listen midst a spirit of freedom and chaos.
